

BUFFALO STATE

The State University of New York

Host for the Most

Workshop for growing short-term rental businesses

Donna Evans-Deyermond and her cat Toto

Host for the Most

WORKSHOP FOR GROWING SHORT-TERM
RENTAL BUSINESSES
(I.E. AIRBNB)

On November 7th, the SBDC is hosting a workshop featuring local author of Host for the Most, Donna Evans-Deyermond; John J. Donner, Esq. managing attorney of the Small Business Legal Clinic and Susan McCartney, PhD., MBA, director of the SUNY Buffalo State Small Business Development Center.

This workshop is targeted to people that are interested in starting a short-term rental business (i.e. Airbnb), or that already listed properties who would like tips on how to increase bookings, organize their calendars, get better reviews and handle check-ins and check-outs. During this workshop participants will have the opportunity to learn the nuances of running a short-term rental business and have a better understanding of the legal and business aspects of it.

Where: Rockwell Hall Room 204 at Buffalo State College 1300 Elmwood Ave Buffalo NY 14222.

When: Thursday November 7th, check-in at 5:30, session runs from 6:00 PM to 8:00 PM.

A fee of $25 includes a copy of Host for the Most. A handbook for getting the most out of your home share rental, written by an obsessive-compulsive (but experienced) host.

To register please call 716-878-4030 or email Olivia Harbol at harbolol01@mail.buffalostate.edu. To attend this event, you need to register in advance.

